

Workday Strategic Sourcing: Intake

By engaging earlier with the business in gathering requirements, supplier discovery, and market evaluation, sourcing teams can drive any project to success. However, inefficient methods of collaboration make enterprise alignment difficult. Back-and-forth communication via email chains, phone calls, and spreadsheet edits is not only time consuming, but error prone.

Workday Strategic Sourcing connects the rest of the business to the sourcing organization with a single, intuitive platform. The intuitive user interface makes the sourcing process more accessible to stakeholders and other collaborators, positioning the sourcing team as a true strategic partner.

Key Benefits

- Drive enterprise-wide alignment through streamlined sourcing project requests in a single platform
- Improve collaboration while securely tracking and managing sourcing projects
- Eliminate manual processes and standardize workflows to maximize efficiency

“ Workday has extended their simple, intuitive, easy to use RFX solution to manage opportunity intake and pipeline management. Our team has an unprecedented view and control over sourcing opportunities, better enabling us to strategically manage spend and drive business-tuned buying decisions.
